

In Youngstown, a good team has been built up, under the guidance of two former members of the Cleveland Engineers. This eleven has been playing nearly a year and is making a good record.

A former Thistle player has put Amherst on the soccer map. He is none other than the star back, Johnston. He organized a team that play members of the Cleveland League when the latter have open dates. There is now a great deal of interest in the little town.

The Junior League in Cleveland has not yet been put on a re-organized basis. Hope of doing so has not, however, been given up. The men behind the league are biding their time until enough teams can be got together and their play developed so that no one will have a walk-away in a league race. It is discouraging to the youngsters to have one team go to the front and then see little chance for any other dislodging it.
