

grade school soccer is personally managed by a supervisor of the Department of Physical Education. The league is composed of a group of business and professional men interested in promoting athletic sports for the school children. They have a splendid organization, with rules covering eligibility and competition that have made grade school athletics a real contribution to the educational system.

All games are played on public playfields and the officiating is done by volunteer workers under the direction of the supervisor of physical education. Scores and standing of teams are published in the newspapers. Seven-inch letters are given to players on winning teams and five-inch letters to regular players on other teams. Banners are awarded to the schools with section winning teams, and Class A and B trophies are engraved for and held for a year by the respective class winners.
