

who is a most enthusiastic "soccerite," has achieved wonders in demonstrating to the youth of Chicago the superiority of the soccer game over all other forms of foot ball. So successful have his labors proved that no fewer than 110 teams of boys will take the field the coming fall.

The brothers, Archibald and Alexander Paterson, of Englewood, and Lane Technical High Schools respectively, were instrumental in forming last March a High School League, consisting of Lane Technical, Englewood, Oak Park, and La Grange, and with the assistance of the ex-Board of the A.F.L.C., who furnished referees and coaches, this league went through a very satisfactory spring season, the Englewood High School finishing in the lead.

This league plays for a Challenge Trophy in the shape of an elaborate, massive silver shield, donated by Chicago's best soccer friend and promoter, Mr. Peter J. Peel, previously referred to in Peel Challenge Cup matter.

There is unlimited evidence that the boys are enthusiastic and eager about the game, and the utmost willingness to teach them prevails among the experienced players and referees of the city.
